Abstract

The purpose of this study is to study the nature of operations, management problems and the management model of community welfare fund suitable for sustainability in Muangbua Subditrict, Chumphon Buri District Surin Province. Research using qualitative research methodology. The instruments used in the study were in-depth interviews and group discussion descriptive analysis. The study indicated that:

1. The operation of the community welfare fund : The board of directors has been selected by the board of directors. A study visit to exchange knowledge with other funds. Fund regulations there is public awareness about the community welfare fund with villagers. The problems encountered in the operation include the succession of new generations to work, relatively little fund. Some committees have no knowledge about their roles and responsibilities. Some leaders and committees have multiple positions in both the community and outside the community. Tools and equipment are not enough for the job. The financial computer database is not able to respond to the fast service to its members and a network of support or assistance from government agencies and private sector lack of continuity.

2 . Management of community welfare fund : Management structure. Responsible division of responsibilities of the board is clearly written. Meetings are held every six months. Planning before work provide training to the board in the operation. Reporting system to the board and fund members. Membership registration. There is a public relations campaign to raise awareness about the welfare fund to members and interested persons by making brochures, brochures, community radio, news broadcasts.

3. Fund management model : Planning for the short term plan. Medium and long term plans allow members to participate in fund management reviews. Member registration account receivable using technology to respond to performance and service. Monitor/evaluate the work of the board. View other fundraising events at least once a year, analyze the strengths, weaknesses, problems, obstacles of the fund. Provide tools and equipment for the operation. Develop the potential of the fund committee and more collaborative networks with outside agencies.
